Special and personal attention given to the preparation, proof, and trial of cases in the Court of Alabama Claima, in Washington, D. C.

An extended experience in the former court, and unusual facilities for managing these causes, enables me to render special services to claimants. Time for docketing cases expires January 14, 1853. All cases not entered on or before that date will be thereafter totally barred and in imissible.

The Court has jurisdiction of claims for vessels and cargoes dearcoyed by any confederate cruisers, the wares of officers and men, their personal effects, and for War Premiums paid from April, 1861, to November, 1855. Interest is allowed from the time of the loss or payment of premiums until March 31, 1877, at 4 per cent, per annum.

Important Decision as to Salaries, Judge Lawrence, First Comptroller of the Treas-ury, has just rendered a decision in the matter of "the contraction of appropriations for the fiscal year, 1888," in which he decides:

"the contraction of appropriations for the fiscal year, 1888," in which he decides:

1. New officers created by the act of August 5 can only be paid salary from the time they enter upon the duties of their offices, and not from the commencement of the fiscal year.

2. In case a salary is increased by that act the officer entitled to the increase, dating back to June 30.

3. In case a salary is reduced by that act the reduction dates back to June 30; and the officer who has been paid from June 30; and the officer who has been paid from June 30 to August 5, at the prior higher rate, must refund the excess.

4. In cases where the act of August 5 has changed compensation from a per diem to a higher annual salary rate, the officer is entitled to the increase dating back to June 30.

5. In cases where the offices are abolished by the act of August 5 the incumbents are entitled to retained pay to August 5.

6. In cases where the act of August 5 abolishes offices of a low grade and substitutes those of a higher grade with increase pay the increase only commences when the new officer has entered upon the duties of the higher grade office.

ALL ABOUT TOBACCO. Its History From Its Discovery to the od for TRE REPUBLICAN: The Leipsie Gartenlaube, a prominent periodica of Germany, in a late issue contains an interesting article on the history of tobacca. As tobacco is an important production of the United States, we publish the following extraces of the article. It says: "The home of tobacco is the New World, Before the discovery of America tobacco was not known to the other grand divisions of the earth. When Columbus landed at the Island of Guanahani, on the 12th of October, 1492, the Spaniards with astonishment saw the natives blowing clouds of smoke forth from their noses and mouths.

Present Time.

The indians wrapped a dry herb in a corn leaf, lighted one end of the roll and imbibed the smoke from the other. Such a roll was called by them tabaco, while the herb itself was called kohoba. THEY GAVE THE NAME OF TABACO THEY GAVE THE NAME OF TABACO also to two pipes attached to a funuel by means of which they ininied through their noses the smoke of kahod leaves pineed upon burning coals. They used the fresh leaves of the kohola plant for heating wounds, and filed the tents in which sick persons were lying with tobsece smoke to lessen their pains and cure them. In Maxico, conquered in 1619, the Spanlards found tobsece in general use,

and wherever they went they saw the people smoking it from reeds, mixing rose-leaves and aromatic guiss with the dry herb. The Mexicans also chowed and smifed tobacco. The Spaniards soon commenced to smoke themselves. They took tobacco seed home with them to Spania, where the plant was originally raised in gardens and used for medical purposes. The fresh leaves or the juice of the plant was used against gout, headache, toothache, and stomach sche. In this respect the tobacco plant soon became so famous that prominent physicians declared it to be a universal remedy for all diseaves of the human body.

IN FRANCE TOBACCO BECAME KNOWN

IN FRANCE TODACCO BECAME KNOWN by Jeau Nicot, who was French ambassador at Lisbon, Portugal, in 1560, and after him it was called herba Nicotions. An older name of it is petum, derived from a Brazilian word. In France tobacco was also first used as a medicine, particularly in the shape of small. Even ladies smalled there. The French clergy sealously used small as a preventive against love. The wonderful herb now became known among all civilized nations. IN FRANCE TOBACCO BECAME KNOWN

Hally, too, the clergy became protectors of the sanative herb. Blahop Tornaboul sent the first seed of the plant from Peris to Florence. To Rome the seed was first sent by Cardinal de Santa Cruce (of him the plant was named the herb of the holy

In Spain, at the convent of San Jago de Compos In Spain, at the convent of San Jago de Comportella, famous for pilgrimage-, five monks were immured alive in 1622 b-cause they had smoked at the choir in the evening. Yet Pope Benedict XIII., himself a passionage snuffer, allowed the use of tobacco again in 17-3. Secular governments, too, opposed the use of tobacco. King James I. of Engrand wrote a lengthy essay in Latin against it in 1603. The University of Oxford held a public disputation against the smoking of tobacco in 1605. In France only druggless were permitted to sell tobacco of prescribed by physicians. In Sweden, at the time of Gustavus Adolphus, smokers had to do pentience in church. In Russia smokers were unmeredially whipped, while their noses were form open in 1634. About the same time Suitan Murad IV, went around in Constantinople during the night time, accom-Constantinople during the night time, accom-panied by executioners, who had to kill those he discovered smoking. In Persia

SOLDIERS FOUND SMOKING WERE KILLED. solders found smoking while killer, and, with smashed bands and feet, thrown before their tents. Also among the Mohammedans the ciergy were bitterly opposed to the use of tobacco. In Germany, where the first smoking of tobacco was chronicled in 1620, the authorities waged war against its use, after the thirty years' war, from 1618 to 1648, was over. The city council of herne, Switzerland, ordained in 1601, that smoking of tobacco should receive the some punishment as adultery. But all that opposition was of no avail. Tobacco remained victor. The running the governments commenced to tax it. The Republic of Venice first did this in 1657. It decreed the sale and manufacture of tobacco to be a monopoly of Venice first did this in 1657. It decreed the sale and manufacture of tobacco to be a monopoly of the Sate, leased the same and derived a net income of 46,600 ductars from it during the first five years. This example was at once followed by the papal government at Rome, and in a short time by the governments of all the other states of liny. In France Colbert, the prime minister, made a similar arrangement in 1645 and the government of France derived from the sale and manumeture it tobacco.

A REVENUE OF FIVE MUNDRED THOUGAND LIVERS A REVENUE OF FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND LIVIES IN that year, which rose to 29,000,000 livres during the year 1787. In England also a tobacco monopoly of the state was established, but it lasted only about twenty years, when it was abolished, giving way to a tax on tobacco. In all civilized countries of Europe tobacco was heavily taxed in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. The tobacco plant is now extensively raised in Europe, too, and manufactured there into south, smoking, and chewing tobacco, all of which are taxed as attained as a to the production of tobacco, the Garian-Jande says: The annual amount of it raised at present is, in the United States, 3,409,000 numbered weights; Cula, 610,000; Hazil, 360,000; hotin, 150,000; Austria, 100,000; the Netherislands, 85,000; Italy, 93,000; Russia, 180,000, and Germany, 1,100,000.
